

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

The background of the image is a traditional marbled paper pattern, often called a 'stone' or 'shell' pattern. It features large, irregular, rounded shapes in shades of grey, blue, and tan, set against a darker, more complex background of red, black, and yellow. The overall effect is organic and textured. A horizontal, rectangular label of a solid yellowish-gold color is centered on the page, containing the text 'NEW-YORK DISPENSARY' in a black, serif, all-caps font. The label has a slightly aged or worn appearance.

PREFACE.

THE Poor when confined by sickness, have a peculiar claim upon the benevolence of those whose circumstances enable them to administer to their wants.

For their relief many institutions have been established in this city.

While the New-York Hospital, the Almshouse, and the Lying-in Hospital receive those who are among the most destitute, and are deprived of every domestic accommodation, the Dispensary provides assistance for that description of poor, who when deprived by disease of the earnings of their daily labor, are also deprived of the means of procuring the medical assistance necessary for their relief.

The mechanic who cannot without great inconvenience leave his family to reside in an Hospital, the mother who cannot be separated from her children, the tender infant who requires the constant care and assistance of a fond parent, those who labor under chronic diseases and are thence not objects of the Hospital, are the peculiar-objects of this charity.

The benefits arising from an institution of this sort, by which the poor are relieved at their own habitations, require no illustration.

Its utility in this city has been long experienced and acknowledged, but the number of our inhabitants having considerably increased since the first institution of the Dispensary, and the objects of its charity having multiplied in proportion, the trustees have found it necessary to enlarge the establishment, thereby to render it more extensively useful.

For this purpose they have divided the city into four districts, and have appointed a Physician to each, whose duty it will be to give constant attention to the poor, who are the objects of the Dispensary.

To secure to the sick the benefits of additional advice, they have appointed four consulting Physicians, who will be called on by the attending Physicians in all difficult or dangerous cases.

The Directors of the Kine-Pock institution having transferred their duties to the Dispensary, it will also in future be a primary object of the Trustees of this Institution to diffuse the benefits of Vaccine Innoculation among the poor; for they observe with great concern that notwithstanding the useful labors of the Kine-Pock Association our bills of mortality still record many deaths occasioned by the small pox.

That the duties of this department may be executed in such manner as will be most beneficial to the community, they have appointed a physician whose peculiar business it will be to attend at the Dispensary for the purpose of Inoculating such poor as shall be recommended by the subscribers.

The regulations which have been adopted relative to this department, and the alterations which have been made in the mode of conducting the ordinary business of the Dispensary, will be seen in the Bye-Laws which are herewith published for the information of the contributors.

As the present funds of the Dispensary are insufficient to defray the additional expenses which will be incurred by this new arrangement, the Trustees feel the strongest assurances that the liberality of their fellow citizens will enable them to carry into effect the alterations now adopted.

FORM OF AN ADDRESS

RECOMMENDED BY THE TRUSTEES OF THE NEW-YORK DISPENSARY TO BE MADE TO PARENTS, BY CLERGYMEN, AT THE BAPTISM OF CHILDREN.

YOU who are parents must feel yourselves not less bound by religion, than prompted by affection, to guard your child from every impending evil ; and especially from infectious diseases endangering its life. No human malady can give more serious cause of alarm than the SMALL-POX. When taken in the natural way, it is, as you well know, violent, painful, and often fatal. Even in those who recover from it, the countenance is permanently disfigured, or the constitution receives some irretrievable injury, by loss of sight, deafness, tedious ulcers, white swellings, consumption, &c. In the Small Pox communicated by inoculation, there is certainly less danger ; but notwithstanding every precaution, the inoculated Small-Pox has, in many cases, proved fatal : and it is further highly objectionable, since, by spreading infection, it endangers the lives of all persons in the neighborhood, who have not previously had the disease. A mild and certain preventive of the Small-Pox, was a few years ago providentially discovered by the JENNERIAN INOCULATION of the Cow-Pock. This, after the strictest inquiry, has been approved, and is now extensively practised in most parts of the world. The new inoculation may be safely performed at every season of the year, and at every period of life, since it occasions no material disorder, nor is attended with any danger whatever. At the same time that no infection is communicable from the persons inoculated to others with whom they have intercourse, it never excites in the constitution the dreadful maladies above mentioned, which so frequently succeed both the natural and inoculated Small-Pox.

That you might not remain ignorant of so inestimable a blessing, this short statement is addressed to you ; and as you value the life of your infant, and the safety of your neighborhood, you will immediately avail yourselves of the advantage offered to you ; for doubly poignant must be your sorrow, if by neglecting so to do, your child should perish, or be materially injured by the Small-Pox.
